About BrokerCheck®

BrokerCheck offers information on all current, and many former, registered securities brokers, and all current and former registered securities firms. FINRA strongly encourages investors to use BrokerCheck to check the background of securities brokers and brokerage firms before deciding to conduct, or continue to conduct, business with them.

- What is included in a BrokerCheck report?

- BrokerCheck reports for individual brokers include information such as employment history, professional qualifications, disciplinary actions, criminal convictions, civil judgments and arbitration awards. BrokerCheck reports for brokerage firms include information on a firm's profile, history, and operations, as well as many of the same disclosure events mentioned above.
- Please note that the information contained in a BrokerCheck report may include pending actions or allegations that may be contested, unresolved or unproven. In the end, these actions or allegations may be resolved in favor of the broker or brokerage firm, or concluded through a negotiated settlement with no admission or finding of wrongdoing.

- Where did this information come from?

- The information contained in BrokerCheck comes from FINRA's Central Registration Depository, or CRD® and is a combination of:
 - information FINRA and/or the Securities and Exchange Commission (SEC) require brokers and brokerage firms to submit as part of the registration and licensing process, and
 - information that regulators report regarding disciplinary actions or allegations against firms or brokers.

- How current is this information?

- Generally, active brokerage firms and brokers are required to update their professional and disciplinary information in CRD within 30 days. Under most circumstances, information reported by brokerage firms, brokers and regulators is available in BrokerCheck the next business day.

- What if I want to check the background of an investment adviser firm or investment adviser representative?

- To check the background of an investment adviser firm or representative, you can search for the firm or individual in BrokerCheck. If your search is successful, click on the link provided to view the available licensing and registration information in the SEC's Investment Adviser Public Disclosure (IAPD) website at <https://www.adviserinfo.sec.gov>. In the alternative, you may search the IAPD website directly or contact your state securities regulator at <http://www.finra.org/Investors/ToolsCalculators/BrokerCheck/P455414>.

- Are there other resources I can use to check the background of investment professionals?

- FINRA recommends that you learn as much as possible about an investment professional before deciding to work with them. Your state securities regulator can help you research brokers and investment adviser representatives doing business in your state.

Disclosure Events

What you should know about reported disclosure events:

1. All individuals registered to sell securities or provide investment advice are required to disclose customer complaints and arbitrations, regulatory actions, employment terminations, bankruptcy filings, and criminal or civil judicial proceedings.
2. Certain thresholds must be met before an event is reported to CRD, for example:
 - A law enforcement agency must file formal charges before a broker is required to disclose a particular criminal event.
 - A customer dispute must involve allegations that a broker engaged in activity that violates certain rules or conduct governing the industry and that the activity resulted in damages of at least $5,000.
3. Disclosure events in BrokerCheck reports come from different sources:
 - As mentioned at the beginning of this report, information contained in BrokerCheck comes from brokers, brokerage firms and regulators. When more than one of these sources reports information for the same disclosure event, all versions of the event will appear in the BrokerCheck report. The different versions will be separated by a solid line with the reporting source labeled.
4. There are different statuses and dispositions for disclosure events:
 - A disclosure event may have a status of pending, on appeal, or final.
 - A "pending" event involves allegations that have not been proven or formally adjudicated.
 - An event that is "on appeal" involves allegations that have been adjudicated but are currently being appealed.
 - A "final" event has been concluded and its resolution is not subject to change.
 - A final event generally has a disposition of adjudicated, settled or otherwise resolved.
 - An "adjudicated" matter includes a disposition by (1) a court of law in a criminal or civil matter, or (2) an administrative panel in an action brought by a regulator that is contested by the party charged with some alleged wrongdoing.
 - A "settled" matter generally involves an agreement by the parties to resolve the matter. Please note that brokers and brokerage firms may choose to settle customer disputes or regulatory matters for business or other reasons.
 - A "resolved" matter usually involves no payment to the customer and no finding of wrongdoing on the part of the individual broker. Such matters generally involve customer disputes.

For your convenience, below is a matrix of the number and status of disclosure events involving this broker. Further information regarding these events can be found in the subsequent pages of this report. You also may wish to contact the broker to obtain further information regarding these events.

Disclosure Event Details

When evaluating this information, please keep in mind that a disclosure event may be pending or involve allegations that are contested and have not been resolved or proven. The matter may, in the end, be withdrawn, dismissed, resolved in favor of the broker, or concluded through a negotiated settlement for certain business reasons (e.g., to maintain customer relationships or to limit the litigation costs associated with disputing the allegations) with no admission or finding of wrongdoing.

This report provides the information exactly as it was reported to CRD and therefore some of the specific data fields contained in the report may be blank if the information was not provided to CRD.

Broker Statement

Jose Candelario is not a respondent in this arbitration and denies all claims as stated by Claimant's Counsel. There was no misconduct on my part whatsoever. The claims are believed to stem from the unprecedented turmoil experienced in the Puerto Rico economy. The Coop of Isabela is an Institutional Client with a board that meets to identify and qualify by the protocol established by its regulatory committee (COSSEC) the bonds that were presented or are being presented as an investment opportunity. . At no time did the client express any fear of the economy of Puerto Rico in many conversations and meetings I had with the them. I have no control over the Puerto Rican economy, nor how the government handles its responsibilities.

Client was advised of multiple investments options in the period of 2009 -2016 and based on those recommendations the portfolio of bonds was NOT concentrated in PR and mainly it was US issued Muni bonds. Information regarding the situation of Puerto Rico and its obligation were disclosed through the media and by me to the client. At no time was the product misrepresented or any information omitted. Product was suitable in accordance with the client's needs of a monthly distribution of tax-exempt income from products that at that time were considered investment grade based on the PR Govt creditworthiness.

Cossec Issued a memorandum on 2009 that stated that the savings and Loans community should back the new bonds that the government was about to issue in that point in time.

The claims are believed to stem from the unprecedented turmoil experienced in the Puerto Rico economy. The clients wanted tax free PR Government investments which produced income; that's what we presented to them and that is what the clients approved us to buy. At no time did the clients express any fear of the economy of Puerto Rico in many conversations and meetings I had with the them. I have no control over the Puerto Rican economy, nor how the government handles its responsibilities.

Client was advised of multiple investments options in the period of 2011. Prospectus and client meeting documents were given and signed by client approving the transaction. Information regarding the situation Puerto Rico and its obligation was disclosed the media and by me to the client. At no time was the product misrepresented or any information omitted. Product was suitable in accordance with the client's needs of a monthly distribution of tax-exempt income from products that at that time were considered investment grade based on the PR Govt creditworthiness.

[REDACTED] had received multiple portfolio proposal before deciding on PR products for its tax exempt monthly payments which he desired to start a phase out procedure in his private practice as a Dentist. He was well aware of all the disclosures and any new documentation from the funds were revised and signed. The client and I had regular meetings at his office and house to discuss his investments and alternatives. Because of the uncertainty of the local market a change was made on his account which was documented and signed before the switch was made to a US source mutual fund, which helped his monthly income once the local PR investments stop paying.

Broker Statement

Jose Candelario is not a respondent in this arbitration and denies all claims as stated by Claimant's Counsel. There was no misconduct on my part whatsoever. The claims are believed to stem from the unprecedented turmoil experienced in the Puerto Rico economy. The clients wanted tax free PR Government investments which produced income; that's what we presented to them and that is what the clients approved us to buy. At no time did the clients express any fear of the economy of Puerto Rico in many conversations and meetings I had with the them. I have no control over the Puerto Rican economy, nor how the government handles its responsibilities.

Client was advised of multiple investments options in the period of 2012. Prospectus and client meeting documents were given and signed by client approving the transaction. Information regarding the situation Puerto Rico and its obligation was disclosed the media and by me to the client. At no time was the product misrepresented or any information omitted. Product was suitable in accordance with the client's needs of a monthly distribution of tax-exempt income from products that at that time were considered investment grade based on the PR Govt creditworthiness.

[REDACTED] was instructed to sell all of his PR mutual funds products in the account at Oriental Financial Services in 2013 because of his concentration in other Investment companies in Puerto Rico. Client Refused and signed document stating that he acknowledged that he did not wanted to sell.

Broker Statement

I deny all allegations regarding [Customer's] claim. He was well informed of all the investments of his portfolio and the approval of the investments rest on the clients request for nontaxable products and intermediate durations. In multiple meetings I addressed the PR financial situation with the client and offered alternatives to his portfolios. In all the meetings the client signed off on the documents that summarized the information discussed and his decision/acknowledgment to the possibility of a nonpayment scenario for the PR products on his portfolio. Signed documentation by the client is available on his record including the prospectus given to the client and his dismissal of the alternatives for his investments.

Jose Candelario is not a respondent in this arbitration and denies all claims as stated by Claimant's Counsel. There was no misconduct on my part whatsoever. The claims are believed to stem from the unprecedented turmoil experienced in the Puerto Rico economy. The clients wanted tax free PR Government investments which produced income; that's what we presented to them and that is what the clients approved us to buy. At no time did the clients express any fear of the economy of Puerto Rico in many conversations and meetings I had with the them. I have no control over the Puerto Rican economy, nor how the government handles its responsibilities.

Client was advised of multiple investments options in the period of 2013. Prospectus and client meeting documents were given and signed by client approving the transaction. Information regarding the situation Puerto Rico and its obligation was disclosed the media and by me to the client. At no time was the product misrepresented or any information omitted. Product was suitable in accordance with the client's needs of a monthly distribution of tax-exempt income from products that at that time were considered investment grade based on the PR Govt creditworthiness.

Mr Arroyo Rangel was well aware of the different products that were presented and approved by his wife and him on all the meetings had throughout the years. Every information needed to provide a suitable recommendation was provide for approval and signed by both parties. When the situation with the PR GDB bonds started to escalate recommendations were given to move the assets left over to US equity funds and/or alternative investment reminding Mr Rangel about the difference in the investment risks associated to the change. The documentation for the change was signed first before doing any selling or buying. The account is well documented on all transaction. No negligence or misrepresentation was ever present nor unsuitability.

[REDACTED] was well aware of all of his positions in his account and was advised to maintain his US investments instead of gravitating to the higher yields and tax exemptions of the PR products. He asked for different alternatives in PR to invest 50% of his portfolio. In the end he chose an opened-ended Pr Mutual Fund.
