Disclosure Events

What you should know about reported disclosure events:

1. All individuals registered to sell securities or provide investment advice are required to disclose customer complaints and arbitrations, regulatory actions, employment terminations, bankruptcy filings, and criminal or civil judicial proceedings.
2. Certain thresholds must be met before an event is reported to CRD, for example:
  - A law enforcement agency must file formal charges before a broker is required to disclose a particular criminal event.
  - A customer dispute must involve allegations that a broker engaged in activity that violates certain rules or conduct governing the industry and that the activity resulted in damages of at least $5,000.
3. Disclosure events in BrokerCheck reports come from different sources:
  - As mentioned at the beginning of this report, information contained in BrokerCheck comes from brokers, brokerage firms and regulators. When more than one of these sources reports information for the same disclosure event, all versions of the event will appear in the BrokerCheck report. The different versions will be separated by a solid line with the reporting source labeled.
4. There are different statuses and dispositions for disclosure events:
  - A disclosure event may have a status of pending, on appeal, or final.
    - A "pending" event involves allegations that have not been proven or formally adjudicated.
    - An event that is "on appeal" involves allegations that have been adjudicated but are currently being appealed.
    - A "final" event has been concluded and its resolution is not subject to change.
  - A final event generally has a disposition of adjudicated, settled or otherwise resolved.
    - An "adjudicated" matter includes a disposition by (1) a court of law in a criminal or civil matter, or (2) an administrative panel in an action brought by a regulator that is contested by the party charged with some alleged wrongdoing.
    - A "settled" matter generally involves an agreement by the parties to resolve the matter. Please note that brokers and brokerage firms may choose to settle customer disputes or regulatory matters for business or other reasons.
    - A "resolved" matter usually involves no payment to the customer and no finding of wrongdoing on the part of the individual broker. Such matters generally involve customer disputes.

For your convenience, below is a matrix of the number and status of disclosure events involving this broker. Further information regarding these events can be found in the subsequent pages of this report. You also may wish to contact the broker to obtain further information regarding these events.

The matter may, in the end, be withdrawn, dismissed, resolved in favor of the broker, or concluded through a negotiated settlement for certain business reasons (e.g., to maintain customer relationships or to limit the litigation costs associated with disputing the allegations) with no admission or finding of wrongdoing.

This report provides the information exactly as it was reported to CRD and therefore some of the specific data fields contained in the report may be blank if the information was not provided to CRD.

Broker Statement

I have been incorrectly included in this statement of claim and I strongly deny all allegations. I started servicing these clients in 2011 as the Junior Broker in a team along with 2 Senior Brokers. Since the date this account was assigned to us the account was already heavily invested in PR Closed End Funds. The statement of claim indicates that purchases of CEF were recommended and purchased when [Third Party] was the broker of record. It is important to note that the clients purchased the referenced PR closed-end funds in 2005 and 2007 at which time I was still in college. Once the account was inherited by my team, we had many in person meetings, phone calls and email conversations advising clients of the risks associated with such investments. It is important to highlight that there is documentation in record memorializing discussions sustained with the clients in which they were advised about relevant risks and respective account exposure for positions maintained. Record also includes notes documenting clients' reluctance to accept our recommendation to diversify portfolio and consequently reduce risk. All improper allegations made against me will be vigorously defended and I will seek expungement from my record as I have been unfairly included in the lawsuit.

Customer Dispute - Closed-No Action / Withdrawn / Dismissed / Denied

This type of disclosure event involves (1) a consumer-initiated, investment-related arbitration or civil suit containing allegations of sales practice violations against the individual broker that was dismissed, withdrawn, or denied; or (2) a consumer-initiated, investment-related written complaint containing allegations that the broker engaged in sales practice violations resulting in compensatory damages of at least $5,000, forgery, theft, or misappropriation, or conversion of funds or securities, which was closed without action, withdrawn, or denied.

Broker Statement This statement of claim was amended on 6/2/2016. It is important to highlight that the revised statement of claim does not include my name. It is also important to indicate that the original claim did not contain allegations that I directly serviced the claimant's account during the time when the securities in question were purchased. All improper allegations made against me will be vigorously defended and I will seek expungement from my record as I have been unfairly included in the lawsuit. I believe that the original claim, which included my name, was made without a legitimate factual or legal basis and unfairly damages my reputation.

Furthermore, I deny all allegations previously stated. It is important to note that the client purchased the referenced PR closed-end funds in 1997 at which time I was still in elementary school. I became registered in 2009 but it was not until 2015 that the accounts were assigned to me by two senior financial advisors who were the brokers of record for this relationship for several years. By the time the accounts were assigned to me referenced investments were already heavily undervalued. I kept the client informed of the alternatives available to him, such as the repurchase programs that provided liquidity for the PR closed-end funds. I also sent client research to keep him abreast of the PR crisis and deteriorating situation. I was the broker of record for this client for only a few months before resigning to UBS in December 2015 and during this time I did not execute a single trade in the accounts. I also did not receive any commissions or any other type of compensation from this relationship.

I have been incorrectly included in this statement of claim.
